JACOB THOMPSON.

Instructions to Him by Judge Jere, S. Black, of Pennsylvania.

From the Cincinnati Commercial.] It has been the fashion of loyal peo-ple to consign the ex-Secretary of the Interior to the most hearty and remorseless condemnation. Scarcely a word has been heard from the other side, while epithets and charges have been exhausted to prove that Mr. Thompson was a rascal and a poltroon, who had been denounced without reason, by Mr. Stanton, in the first cabinet meeting which the latter attended upon his selection by President Buchanan. We had a most thrilling display in this city, of Mr. Thompson's predicament on that ocwhen Mr. William Johnson, late of the Cincinnati bar, but now of the bar of Washington City, pro-nounced his eulogy upon Mr. Stanton. It was deeply colored and dramati-cally delivered. Those who heard it were prepared to believe it, and did believe it. But we do not remember pression that he wilfully gove his per-mission to the criminal a-portation of the funds in question, made himself nant envy. an accessory to the felony before the fact, and was as guilty as if he had done it with his own hands. You could not possibly have believed this uniess you perversely closed your eyes against the light of plain truth. All the circumstances of the transaction to which you refer are as well under-stood as anything in the history of the country. A committee of Congress, consisting of men opposed to the Sec-retary, examined the evidence when it was fresh, and reported upon ft. The correctness of their judgment has never been impugned. In the face of these recorded and well known facts you deliberately set down and write out, or get somebody to write out and publish to sation that Mr. Thompson has committed an offense which should make him infamous forever. The force of mendacity can go no further. I admit
